

Family Talk

An invitation to help us with our study

How is familial adenomatous polyposis discussed in your family?

We would like to invite you to take part in a research study.

We want to find out more about families' experiences of living and coping with familial adenomatous polyposis and how it is discussed amongst family members.

We are interested in interviewing parents or guardians, and the children and young people in your family.

Skilled interviewers will talk to you in confidence at a convenient time and location.

If you are interested or want more information please contact Gill Plumridge, University of Birmingham
Tel 0121 415 8740 or email g.plumridge@bham.ac.uk